ADB Activities Related to Protecting Vulnerable Coastal and Marine Ecosystems and Safety of Navigation

Information on selected ADB activities in Asia and the Pacific region related to coastal and marine resource management and navigation is presented below.

4. Cook Islands. TA on Lagoon Ecology Monitoring and Management (TA No. 2144-COO) approved in 1994 has satisfactorily accomplished its target outputs of: (i) undertaking of population dynamics and modeling study of black-lipped oysters in the lagoon area; (ii) measurement and recording of water column parameters, regular plankton sampling, examination and identification of species; (iii) identification and promotion of environmentally

9. Federated States of Micronesia (FSM). The Marine Resources Management and Conservation TA (AOA No.1965-FSM, piggybacked to Loan No. 1257-FSM), aimed at assisting the Government and the private sector in developing a national commercial fishing industry. The TA was able to establish the Model State Fisheries Law that addressed, among others, the protection of marine resources in the four States of Micronesia. The TA also resulted in the approval of another marine resource management loan from ADB. The loan (Loan 1257-FSM: Fisheries Development) aimed to increase the harvest of sashimi-grade tuna through privately owned longline fishing vessels. It also aimed to strengthen the country's capabilities in managing and conserving its marine resources as well as in identifying, formulating, preparing, and evaluating fisheries projects for investment purposes. A related TA (AOA No. 2000-FSM)

14. Solomon Islands. ADB supported the Government of Solomon Islands through a (PPTA, May 2007-09) to assess fisheries management and
