Global launch of World Population Prospects 2022, release of the latest China Population Prospects and symposium on low fertility

(As of 4th July 2022)

I. Background

In June 2019, the China Population and Development Research Center (CPDRC), together with the Population Division of the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UN DESA), held a press conference on occasion of the released of Population Prospects (WPP) 2019. The event, which provided information to the gather public on global demographic trends, was widely covered by the media and very well received. This year, World Population Prospects 2022will be released at the United Nations in New York on 11 July at 12 noon (eastern daylight tibue)ding on last year's successful cooperation of 12 July Beijing time) to release the WPP 2022cults for the Chinese public On the same occasion, the CPDRC and UNFPA China will hathree results of China Population Prospects the latest population projections for China. The event will be followed by a symposium on low fertility and policy responses.

II. Event organization

Organizer: CPDRC

Co-organizers UN DESA/Population Division and NFPA China

VII. Agenda

Time Item Moderator