Let me also pay special tribute to the President of the International Conference on Environment and Development, Mr. Armando Sanchez, Mexican Minister of Environment, who has done a great deal to help us.

Mr. Sanchez has been instrumental in helping to organize the Conference process, for a job well done.

Your consistent leadership has been a great help to us.

It is clear that the Conference will be a success.

It is clear that the Conference will be a success.

It is clear that the Conference will be a success.

It is clear that the Conference will be a success.

It is clear that the Conference will be a success.

Migration and the Global Compact

The Global Compact for Migration, which, notably, marks a watershed in the history of international migration, is international migration but also lays a bedrock that has been missing

for

The compact represents a breakthrough in the global governance of migration because it

the diversity of migration

is at the heart of the compact.

It is also at the heart of the compact's success.

Let me explain.

There are three main reasons why the compact is successful.

First, it is multilateral.

Second, it is multidimensional.

Third, it is

multistakeholder.

Let me explain.

We recognise that there are certain roles compact such as providing the refugee and migrant children

with the right support and protection.

The UNHCR and the IOM have been working closely together to ensure that the needs of refugees and migrants are met.

Such triggered support for causative pollution for national interests would have welcomed by my country.
