Excellence of Secretary-General of the United Nations:

Honorable Ministers

Distinguished

Ladies and Gentlemen

It is my honor to welcome you to the United Nations Conference on the Environment and Development, held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, from June 3 to June 14, 1992.

The United Nations has always been a place where people from different cultures and backgrounds come together to discuss and solve the world's problems.

Today, we are gathered here to discuss the environment, a topic that affects us all, regardless of our nationality or race.

The environment is the foundation of our life and development. It is the source of our food, water, and energy.

But the environment is under threat. It is being degraded by human activities, and this is a global problem that requires a global solution.

We must act now to protect our environment, for the sake of our present and future generations.

I am confident that the United Nations will continue to play a leading role in addressing the world's environmental challenges.

Thank you for your participation in this important conference.

I wish you all a productive and enjoyable meeting.

Very sincerely,
Boutros Boutros-Ghali
Secretary-General
