

sion and address the recommendations contained in follow-up work on technology for basic needs under existing