Changes in age structure and sustainable development in ageing societies

Tuesday, 4 April 2017 (noon–1 p.m.) United Nations Headquarters, Conference room 4, Conference Building

An increasing number of countries in bothe developing and specially in the developed world are already or approaching advanced stages of the demographic transition associated to ageing population Salient issues in this context include balancing work-family bligations, gender equality and the empowerment of women within the house and the labournarket, the fiscal sustainability of social protection sectors in the face of population ageing, intergenerational solidarity, income coerity, lifelong le