PRESS RELEASE

UN stresses importance of demographic data to achieve Sustainable Development Goals

Reliable, accessible and timely population data are essential for development planning and assessing

New information and communication technologies can be leveraged to increase efficiency and reduce the cost of data collection.

The Secretarythese tools are crucial which forms the substantive input to the Commission, highlights that