

The international mechanisms for monitoring compliance with international humanitarian law and reparation for victims of violations constitute another area in rules is the principal cause of suffering during armed conflicts. In recent years, the emphasis has been on developing criminal law procedures to prosecute and punish