The informal resolution of conflicts is ne of themost crucial element of the system of administration of justice, helpingn particular avoid expensive and times numing litigation. It minimizes the negative impact of conflicts and mitigates associated risks. We welcome the activities of the Office of the United Nations Ombudsman and Mediation Services in this regard and support its corts in advancing and encouraging the use of informal conflict resolution. note the 7% increase in the number of cases that the Office of the Ombudsman opened in 2014, and we recognize that the increased rate of recent signals a heightened assess of the benefits of mediation as a conflict resolution mechanism.

As far as the Management Evaluations concerned we note with appreciation the high number of complaints disposed of every year. We commend the MEU for the work done. The fact that a large majority of MEU decisions were eventually confirmed in whole or in parby the Tribunas is a good indicator of the accuracy of the decisions taken by the Unit. We also we the offact that the MEU systematically tries to identify a requests that take potential for settlement through informal resolution, and attempts to settle those cases in such manner whenever appropriate.

In this regard all the components of the system must be aware that alternative resolution of disputes and nejudicial settlement must be encouraged and efftortavert litigation should not be spated. The institutionalization of good practices by the Management Evaluation Unit and mainstreaming and disseminating tipute is prudence of the Tribunalisave an essential role shaping administrative and management practions is also important to enable to enable to Staff Legal Assistance better provide preventive legal adviceand prevent unmeritorious claims at the outset.

Concerning the UNDispute Tribunal we note that the number of new cases increased by 42% compared to the last perioxind that an increasing number of cases are pending. However, the report of the Secretar General shows that this increase is linked to request slated to decisions that affect large numbers of staff members, and that apart from those requests the number of cases received has otherwise stabilities. would welcome information from the Secretariat on the mechanisms available within the Tribunal system to deal with desiciglens leading to many staff complaints.

Concerning the Office of the United Nations Ombudsman and Mediation Services, we urge the Office to promulgateits revised terms of references requested in the Genal Assembly Resolution 69/203.

I will now turn to some issues addressed in the Secretaryeral's report/70/187.

We see the mainstreaming of good performancemanagement practices, as confirmed or corrected by the case law ofetf ribunals, and proactive case management by the Tribunals an essential element particular, we underline the importance of good communications. We commend the work done so far in various arefashe UN administration of justice system including the lessons learned exercises the good work of the Office of Staff Legal Assistance We encourage the full implementation of lessons learned the issuing dessons learned guides as soon as possible

We note that in paragraph 135 of iteport, the Secretar General considers that, at this point, it

We thank the Secreta@eneral for the answers provided in his report with regard to the issue of accountability where violations of rules and procedures have led to financial loss. When to date, no instances where a financial loss resulted from gross negligence have been identified, and that the Organization continues to monitor the outcom essess in order to refine the measures taken towards personal accountability.

Mr. Chairman,

We commend the staff of OSLA to whom staff members turn for advice and whose counsel helps to avoid mistakes and misunderstandings, and ultimately a lot of unnecessarayndvork time. OSLA remains
