

which provides that “methods and means of warfare must be employed with due regard to the protection and preservation of the environment”.⁶

Finally, we are of the view that while the Commission’s draft principles should focus on general rules and standards, the commentary should also explore, in an indicative manner, some strictly regulated methods of warfare, more likely than

We note with appreciation the presentation by the Drafting Committee of the two introductory draft guidelines dealing respectively with the general and the

