Chapter VIII - Immunity of State officials from foreign criminal jurisdiction

We thank the Special Rapporteur (SR), Ms. Conception Escobar Hernandez, for her extensive work on the seventh report, which, together with the sixth report, has generated a rich debate on the procedural aspects of immunity during this year's ILC session.

We share the helief that alorifying the procedural implications of immunity is associated to allowing the Regarding draft articles 8 and 9 (consideration and determination of immunity), we agree with a broader wording that would cover all possible situations that might arise under national law. However.

we think that while the courts of the forum state are to determine the admissibility of the case in view $cf_2 l_2 = c_1 + c_2 + c_2 + c_3 + c_4 + c_5 + c_6 + c_$ reflected against the principle of equal sovereignty of States in order not to imply that the court might still find that it has jurisdiction in cases where the state of the official has expressly not waived it.
On draft article 10 (invocation of immunity), we agree that there is no obligation to immediately
