

justice and accountability for the worst crimes known to humanity. The United States remains supportive of international courts and tribunals furthering such accountability.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman

