Second Drafting Session on Third FfD Conference

Civil society interventions on International Public Finance

Statement delivered byMs. Mareen Buschmann, Policy Adviser, Bond and Caritas Internationalis

Thank you Mr. CoFacilitator, to address the session name is Mareen Buschmann work for the UK National Platform Bond, and also speak on behalf of the wider civil society group.

As we have clearly heard in the last few days more and better Official Development Assistancehas a crucial and irreplaceable role to play to achieve sustainable development. We now need tofocus our efforts to deliver a sufficiently ambitious outcome, intogluding concrete next steps and measurable timelines we can deliver the finance we need to build the world that we want.

I would like to addres specific points in paragraphs.

First, regarding paragraps6:

We welcome the clear and unambiguous commitment to the 0.7% aid target and the call for timetables. We suggest strengthening this commitment by:

Encouraging all donor countries the end of 2015 pestablish concrete timetables at the national level which outline clearly how and where they will gradually crease their assistance to deliver 0.7% no later than 2020.

Whereas ODA needs focus on eradicating poverty and tackling inequalities everywhere, including in Middle Income Countries, we also support one of rthein asks by LDCs themselves and would encourage adding that developed countries must also commit to provide at least half of their official development assistance to LDCs.

added value whenever international public finance is diverted from more direct interventions to blending with or leveraging private finance.

Finally, also related to paragraph 58:

When modernizing the ODA definition, we'd suggest specifythmag ODA needs to be

Civil societyinterventions on International Public Finance

Statement delivered by Corina Rodríguez Enríquez, Development Alternatives with Women for a New Era (DAWN)

Thank you Mr CoFacilitator,

My name is Corina Rodríguez Enríquez, I am part of Developaltentatives with Women wider CSO group on FfD.

I would like to make three comments

To start with, we consider that a stronger focus is needed on enabling policy space t develop, drive and implement national development strategies in an inclusive and democratic way Developing countries cannot bear the conditionalities of aid that hijack their policy space to pursue sustainable, equitable and gejuterdevelopment patterns.

 Finally, we are also concerned that multitakeholders partnerships specific areas such as health, education and fooste included in the draft, in Paragraphs 69, 70 and 71. Instead, we consider that States should call for establishing a UN led governance framework of open, transparent, and participatory oversight, monitoring and review of any partnership developed within the framework of the UN. It should set criteria for eligibility and dismissal,

Civil society interventions on International Public Finance

Statement delivered by Cristina DiPsir, ector and UN Representative, Interioratal Movement ATD Fourth World

Thank you Mr. Cofacilitator. My name is Cristina Diez, I work for the International Movement ATD Fourth World, I also speak on behalf of a wider civil society group and my statement complements and build upon the statements my colleagues from civil societ have already delivered.

Para 57

Although we welcome the emphasis on reaching the poorest in paragraph 57, we find that wording in this vein misses the most excluded in h\DC countries. Thus we propose:

...We encourage developed countries to target ODA to the poorest and those most in need [ADD: in every country]taking into consideration agreed spending requirements to end poverty and invest in people...

We would also like to point out that better reporting and use of disaggregated data by income, gender, disability, age, race and ethnicity ODA disbursement would greatly improve the impact of ODA. Also, subtional targeting would much more effectively reach the lowest quintile of the population.

Para 60:

In paragraph 60 we would like to propose the following language:

We reaffirm the importance of meeting in full existing commitments under international conventions, including on climate finance and other key global challen [We reiterate existing commitments in line with CBDR and historical responsibility

We would like to propose the following language to strengthen the paragraph:

In the second sentence... We encourage additional counting lette to voluntarily join in implementing [ADDto implement] the agreed mechanisms... [ADD at the end of the paragraph Furthermore, we urge that part of the resources raised through innovative mechanisms are invested toward solving specific and pressing social and environmental issues, making sure to reach the poorest and those most in need in all countries

Para 63

It is critical to align the work of development banks and International Financial Institutions with human rights standards under a "do no harm" approach.

At the end of the sentence about the safeguards of the MDBs we suggest to add [ADD] without producing negative effects or harm to affected communities and consistent with human rights principles and obligations under international law

ODA has contributed to a disproportionate emphasis on hard infrastructure spending. This has often come at the expense of agriculture, public services, social protection and other socialinvestments that have a direct positive impact on the lives of the poorest populations.
