Considerations

17. After consideration of the relevant facts and legal submissions which pertained to Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala's application, the Dispute Tribunal concluded that the administrative decision contested by Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala was not "exempt from management evaluation". The Dispute Tribunal further stated "since the Applicant has not exhausted this otherwise mandatory first step of requesting a management evaluation, the jurisdiction of the Tribunal cannot yet be invoked. The Tribunal has no choice but to reject the present claim as not receivable." This finding, namely that the Dispute Tribunal did not have jurisdiction to embark upon a consideration of Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala's application, was not appealed by Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala. The Secretary-General, however, appeals a discrete issue, namely the "Observations" recorded at paragraphs 25 to 36 of the Judgment.

18. Having regard to the submissions made by the Secretary-General, and the answer filed by Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala, the issues to be decided are:

1) Whether the "Observations" set out at paragraphs 25 to 36 of the UNDT Judgment are properly the subject of an appeal by the Secretary-General; and

2) If properly the subject of an appeal, whether those "Observations" ought to be struck from the UNDT Judgment, as requested by the Secretary-General.

19. In the first instance, we are satisfied that the Secretary-General, who was the beneficiary of a Judgment in his favour from the Dispute Tribunal on the receivability issue, is entitled to appeal to this Tribunal regarding the matters which were the subject of the Dispute Tribunal's "Observations" at paragraph 25 to 36 of its Judgment.

20. In our view, there are a number of factors in the present case which distinguish it from the Appeals Tribunal's jurisprudence in Sefraoui and Rasul.

21. Firstly, the "Observations" were arrived at in circumstances where the Secretary-General had specifically limited his response to Mr. Ngoma-Mabiala's application to the issue of receivability. On 27 July 2011, the Secretary General applied pursuant to Article 19 of the UNDT Statute "for leave to have receivability considered as a preliminary issue", stating:

... Article 19 of the Rules of Procedure provides that the Tribunal may issue any order or direction which is appropriate for the fair and expeditious disposal of the case. To that end, the Respondent applies for leave to submit a reply on the issue of receivability. In the interests of judicial economy, the Respondent further requests that this issue be dealt with as a preliminary matter by the Tribunal. Such an approach would achieve the fair and expedi

Judgment

26. It is hereby ordered that the title "Observations" and paragraphs 25 to 36 shall be redacted from UNDT Judgment No. UNDT/2012/134.
