

Provisional Annual Programme of Work of the Peacebuilding Commission political, financial and technical support for context-specific and nationally owned peacebuilding priorities and projects, to sharing experiences and lessons learned from peacebuilding trajectories. Consultations are also ongoing in follow-up to past and new

Peacebuilding Support Office within the Department of Political and Peacebuilding Affairs (DPPA/PBSO), the PBF Advisory Group and the countries that receive PBF support to ensure that it is informed of the activities of the Fund.

12. The Commission will leverage positive footprints of peacekeepers, where the peacekeeping missions exist, and support the implementation of the peacebuilding dimensions of relevant peacekeeping operations, including during their transition and after their withdrawal, as appropriate.

13. The Commission will engage

Advocacy for peacebuilding financing.

18. The Commission will continue to advocate for adequate, predictable and sustained financing for peacebuilding through voluntary, innovative and assessed contributions. The Commission will also continue to implement General Assembly resolutions 76/305 and 78/257.
19. The Commission will also explore ways to encourage flexible funding for local peacebuilding organizations, including those led by women and youth and continue developing approaches to foster innovative financing for peacebuilding. It recognizes the need to enhance financing to ensure the full, equal and meaningful participation of women and involvement of youth in peacebuilding. Finally, the work of the Commission would benefit from improved awareness of the PBF investments.

Enhanced advisory, bridging and convening role.

20. The Commission will continue to improve the quality and timeliness of its submissions and briefings to principal organs and relevant United Nations entities and peacebuilding fora, providing them with broad peacebuilding perspectives, anchored in substantive and diverse engagements, including to the General Assembly, Security Council and ECOSOC as mandated. The appointment of informal coordinators will facilitate this effort, including by better aligning the neral Assembly and the Security Council as appropriate with ECOSOC. In relation to its bridging role, the Commission will continue to foster greater coherence in the United Nations system, including between the General Assembly, the Security Council and ECOSOC, and within and across the UN Secretariat, UN peacekeeping operations, special political missions and UN agencies, funds, and programmes. While pursuing this goal, the Commission should also explore innovative formats of work which would enable more outreach and interaction, ensuring that its working methods are most effective, sharing of good practices whilst providing timely advice to the Security Council

24. Moreover, the Commission will continue to leverage its convening role to provide an
