

Mr. President

Over the past year the Security Council convened a number of thematic debates on post conflict peacebuilding. The frequency of the meetings and the scope of the discussion testify to the growing sense of commitment by the