

5. Consideration must also be given to ensuring the protection of fundamental human rights in this context, especially the right to privacy.
6. In its resolution 2370 (2017) the Security Council strongly condemns the and border security purposes and the developing multidimensional responses to threats posed by misuse of UAS and enhancing States capabilities to reliably and sustainably prevent terrorists and other nefarious actors from acquiring and use of UAS and its components. These technical sessions will aim to identify challenges and good practices to address the threat that the terrorist use of Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) represents and the opportunities and next steps that UAS technology offers to Member States and the international community.

11. The discussions held during these technical meetings will inform the relevant session of the Special meeting of the Counter-Terrorism Committee on countering the
