It is timenow, 75 years since the ending of the Second World War; that justice for Romais done without further delay, and that the very definition of the Holocaust is corrected to properly acknowledge the Roma and their suffering during the Second World War as being and integral part of the Holocaust.

We witness nowadys how acisticle dogies noted in the same flaved and dargerous belief that some human beings are superior to others, manifest unbetedly incursociety. Racism has permeated the highest political and government levels, unfolding in an underdeed marrier; in what is proven to have become a dimate of acceptance and impurity.

Artisenitism, arti-Roman hetoric and hete notivated crimes and incidents against these people make the headlines every day and risk becoming an unacceptable normality. This, must end

Today, as we commenciate worldwide the victims of the Holocaust, I humbly uge all states, politicians and international organizations, to upscale their efforts and ensure that this essential history lesson is fully learnt, so that the temple sufficient girflicted by the Nazi racistic dogy upon the human kind will reverse part?

I enphasize the essential duty and responsibility of the governments and politicians to firmly condermall forms of racismand retionalist extremism, and to fight prejudice and discrimination
