

Using a case study as a starting point for discussion, this session will look at the particular challenges and opportunities for ensuring that girls and boys have access to quality, relevant and protective educational opportunities. Particular focus will be given to adolescent girls, in order to explore the transformative opportunities that crises present to support them in realizing their rights and potential.

Facilitation will be provided by experts in child protection, humanitarian action adolescent development and education.