57th Commission on the Status of Women

ECOSOC of the United Nations

Moral A 15 Manah 7013

A series of macroeconomic shocks have taken place at a global level as a result of the economic crisis, which have had an impact on the lives of women around the world and have changed the landscape for gender equality. There is a lot of push-back on gender equality and the empowerment of women. As a result political and policy measures that looked quite possible to households buying power, and the cuts in welfare expenditures have profound implications for women in households, and on unequal distribution of unpaid work in it. For these reasons women experience at the same time job loss, decline in incomes, distress, sale of assets. and difficulties in meeting consumption needs. As household became the safety
