and primary concern with child labor issues and opportunities in both education and economic programs.

Mr. Chairman,

This year also marks the 25th anniversary of the enactment of the Clinton Act of Child Labor Reform, which was signed into law by President Clinton. The Committee has the honor to have been called on to review the progress of the Act in 2001 following the expiration of the Act's sunset provisions. During a 25-year period, the Act has been a model of legislative success, demonstrating the effectiveness of the reporting system.

However, we note the serious concerns that have been raised by the Committee and are concerned by the number of cases that have been reported.

Mr. Chairman,

In conclusion, let me reiterate that the Act's effectiveness in reducing and eliminating the number of women and girls.
